Marching Steadily on the Bulgarian Capital.

The Servians Win the
First Decisive
Victory.

A Fierce and Bloody Struggle Now Raging on the Main Public
Highway.

A GREAT BATTLE.

The Servians Win the First Decisive Victory.

By Cable to The Sentinel.

BELGRADE, Nov. 16.—After desperate fighting yesterday the Servian troops occupied positions at Raptioha. The losses on both sides were heavy. This victory enabled the Servians to turn a very difficult and rocky gorge of the Dragoman pass and the Bulgarians after a gallant resistance retreated to Slivniza, where an important engagement is expected to take place to-day, which will decide the fate of Sofia. The direct road to Sofia passes through Tzaribrad and Dragoman, but another runs by way of Tein and turns both defiles off Tzaribrad and Dragoman, reaching Sofia via Brestnik. It was probably on the latter road the fight of yesterday took place.

PARTICULARS OF THE FIGHT.

BELGRADE, Nov. 16.—Col. D. Juk-nitch, commanding the Timak division, drove the Bulgarians from the entrenchments at Kiola and captured 150 prisoners. The total Servian loss is two officers and fifty men killed and 200 wounded. An official report from Colonel Benock says: After a brilliant charge the Servians carried four Bulgarian redoubts beyond Tzaribrad. Col. D. Juk-nitch with the Timak division has taken Kiola. The Servian troops continue advancing everywhere and have captured 400 prisoners. The Servians have lost 200 wounded and fifty killed. A great battle is now being fought in the direction of Dragoman. The latter probably refers to the fight at Ratscha reported in the previous press dispatch.

ALEXANDER'S APPEAL.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 16.—The cabinet council is now discussing Prince Alexander's appeal for assistance.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—An Anglo-French agreement respecting the New Found-land fisheries has been signed in this city. It is regarded as a satisfactory compromise on the questions involved.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The daily newspapers in their editorials on the Bulgaria-Servian war are unanimous in condemning Servia and express great anxiety as to the future of the Balkans.

The extraordinary Liberal campaign which is being made in Scotland, by Mr. Gladstone, is comparatively ignored, for the moment. Despite the adverse criticism made by the editors of the great London dailies on Mr. Gladstone's treatment of the disestablishment issue, it cannot be denied the ex-Premier has succeeded in largely satisfying the churchmen in England that the church is not threatened with immediate attack. Now that he has pretty well convinced Scotch voters that, for them, the issue is a separate one and within their own provinces, as time passes, this becomes daily more clear, and the result is becoming apparently advantageous to the Liberal cause. The ex-premier's great speech has stopped the stampede from the Liberal party, which was turning to the Tory side thousands of men who had begun to deem it their duty to go that way to save the church and it will undoubtedly bring back to the Liberal ranks a large proportion of the deserters whose fears on this score had already driven them away. By his admission to the Scotch that so far as they were concerned, he was willing to bring the question of disestablishment to an issue, whenever they desired it, it is thought Mr. Gladstone has strengthened his following in Scotland. The Scotch have for years demanded an extension to them of the privileges accorded Ireland, in religious and land affairs and perhaps a majority of those English Liberals who still insist on the maintenance of a union of the state and church in England, have long been

have perfect freedom in the matter. Some persons contend that Mr. Gladstone has lost some degree of influence with his party already. The United Ireland, Mr. Parnell's own organ, insists that the home rule question is recognized by all the first statesmen of Great Britain as the leading issue of the hour in British politics, and says that whichever party makes the settlement, it will probably be a mere wrangle over details. This utterance must be considered important. It was undoubtedly inspired by the great Irish leader and is probably meant to convey to the league the information that the Irish party managers no longer consider themselves obliged to tie themselves to the Conservative party for the accomplishment of their ends, but have succeeded in reaching a position in which the chances for a good deal else are sufficient to warrant some independence. It is quite natural for the Parnellites to prefer a bargain with Gladstone to one with Salisbury. The liberal leader has some claims on Irish gratitude and has a following largely disposed towards making concessions. Lord Salisbury has neither. The defection of the Irish vote in Parliament, threw the Liberals from power. They are trying to get back. They have been attempting this without Irish help and have obtained but indifferent prospects. With the Irish help, the Liberals would possess an absolute certainty of restoration. Mr. Parnell would lose nothing, but gain everything. He could afford to trust to Liberal promises with more confidence than to any the Tories might make. The Tory leaders could not guarantee that their party would permit them to fulfill their pledges, whereas Mr. Gladstone could guarantee that his party would keep his promise; besides if Mr. Gladstone himself should prove recalcitrant, Mr. Parnell would be in better shape to again overthrow his ally, for it can at present hardly be doubted that Parnell will have a far larger and more efficient balance of power than he now has.

Dispatches from Brussels aver that Belgium has sent a compromise proposition to the Paris monetary conference, offering to accept the liquidation clause; provided it be offered to her in the event, only, of her renouncing the union and further proposing to withdraw a portion of her silver from circulation, if France agrees to adopt the single gold standard.

The excitement in Germany over Bismark's continued enforcement of his edict of exile of the Russian Poles, from Prussia, continues unabated. Great relief committees have been sent to assist the unfortunate exiles at Lemberg, Posen and Crocow. The relief committee at the latter city reports that two thousand Poles in one Russian settlement were recently ordered to settle up their affairs and quit Prussia without delay. A majority of these were Roman Catholics and have lived in Prussia so long that they have forgotten their native language. They have all been compelled to sell their property in haste and speculators in the favor of the local officials, have taken such advantage of the situation that very little of the property thus forced upon the market has brought more than one-fourth of its value. To make matters worse, Russia has issued an order prohibiting the entry of these exiles into the Czar's domain, unless they can prove they were born therein. In consequence of this there are at present encamped at one place on the frontier, fifteen hundred exiled Poles, penniless, homeless, and deprived of the right to move forward, and with imprisonment with hard labor, staring them in the face, if they dare to return. The Cracow relief committee denounces the expulsion as inhuman and unlawful and quotes from the great German authorities Löffler and Bluntschli, to show that the edict of expulsion was issued by the German Chancellor, in violation of the German constitution of 1871 which lodged with the Bundesrath alone and not with the Crown, the right to banish from the Empire. The innumerable stories of cruelty inflicted upon tens of thousands of unoffending Poles, by the edicts are producing in Germany a wide spread feeling of bitterness against Bismark.

of Spain, to the son of the Duc De Montpensier, is fixed for the 11th of February next.

Mr. Alfred Milner, Liberal parliamentary candidate for Harrow Middlesex, and a close personal friend of Mr. Morley and Mr. Goschen, is at present acting in Mr. Stead's place as editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, to whose columns he has been a contributor for several years. It is regarded as probable that Mr. Milner will be appointed permanently to the position, and it is said that Mr. Stead, when he is free, will start a new newspaper, which will be conducted as an organ of the social purity movement, started in consequence of the Pall Mall Gazette's revelations and now carried on with great vigor by a number of organizations throughout England, under the patronage of the Methodist church.

LONDON, November 14.—The declaration of war by King Milan against Bulgaria and actual hostilities, engage the undivided attention of the people to-night and yet it is next to impossible to get any news from Bulgaria, owing to the expulsion of most of the correspondents and the difficulty the others have in getting their dispatches forwarded to the telegraph offices.

SOFIA, November 14.—Prince Alexander in an order of the day to the officers and men of his army says: "King Milan has declared war against us and has ordered the Servian army to invade Bulgaria. Our Servian brethren instead of assisting us wish to overrun our country. Show your courage now and defend your mothers, wives, sisters and homes. Pursue and annihilate the cowardly treacherous enemy. Let 'forward' be your battle cry brethren, and may God aid us and grant us victory."

VLASSINA, November 14.—A skirmish has taken place near here between Bulgarian and Servian troops. Eleven men were killed and twenty wounded. The Bulgarians have retired from Tein, Isarabrod, Klessuria and Bregora.

SOFIA, November 14.—Servians have commenced operations by a vigorous attack on the Bulgarian position at Bowskedol. The cannonading still continues. Later the Servians descending from the heights of Dastchei and Kludentz, occupied the Bulgarian villages of Miloslawitz, Fetine, Gard and Frontz, in the Tein district. They met with no opposition. No serious action has yet occurred. The Bulgarian troops have left for the frontier, while others are advancing by forced marches, from Eastern Roumelia.

LONDON, November 14.—Dispatches from Belgrade say King Milan has also issued a proclamation which in substance is as follows:

"Servia cannot allow Bulgaria, which has already proved a hard neighbor, to disturb the balance of power in the Balkans, to her exclusive advantage." He then alludes to what he calls the unjustifiable Bulgarian custom duties on the frontier; to the unlawful seizure of Bregora and the encouragement by Bulgaria, of Servian rebels, condemned for high treason. In conclusion the King says: "I cannot suffer these intentional provocations and I therefore adopt the policy of open hostility which has been forced upon me by Bulgaria. Servia's just cause now rests on the arbitrament of arms, the bravery of her army; the protection of the Almighty. I rely upon my people's patriotism."

BELGRADE, November 14.—In is officially announced that a force of Bulgarians on Thursday attacked a body of Servians near Vlasina. The Servians returned the fire. Ten Bulgarians killed or wounded, were left on Servian territory. Several of the Servians were wounded in consequence of attack of the Bulgarians. The cabinet on Friday, decided to declare war. The Servian troops have captured Tein, and occupied the forts.

The British War at Burmah.

By Cable to The Sentinel.

RANGOON, Nov. 16.—In the fight with a war vessel belonging to King Thobaw, which occurred yesterday, the fire from the British caused 200 of the crew of the Burmese vessel to jump overboard. The British then boarded the vessel and proceeded up the river with her. It is reported that 3,000 troops are stockaded at Fort Kuligun which occupies a high dominating position over the river at Minha.

"Give you a reason on compulsion?" "Why of course I will. I am cured of rheumatism, which had kept me enfeebled for twenty years, by Salvation Oil, which cost me only 25 cents."

REBELLIOUS REIL,

Leader of the Northwest Insur-
gents, Executed.

By Cable to The Sentinel.

REGINA, N. W. T., Nov. 16.—Riel has been confined in the guard room of the Canadian mounted police barracks, whose headquarters post is located on the open prairie, three miles west of this city, ever since the conclusion of his trial here in July. The strict privacy of the prisoner was broken down for the first time yesterday when a representative of the Associated Press was permitted to visit him in the company of the high sheriff and commandant of the mounted police. This was on the occasion of a formal announcement that his death warrant had arrived. There was a trace of French pathos in his accent. His beard was a dark brown, neatly trimmed, and his hair was brushed back from his high forehead with a tendency to curl, in contrast to the straight hair of his Indian progenitors. His nose was slightly roman and his skin was dark but not swarthy. Looking at him and witnessing his manner it was easy to discern the influence he had with his people. "I have only this," striking his breast, "to leave and this I tendered to my country fifteen years ago and am willing to give it now." His concluding hours were passed in the sole company of his spiritual advisor, who performed masses for him during the early portion of the night. Riel then laid down and appeared to sleep soundly, awakening at an early hour and again resuming his devotions.

THE EXECUTION.

Louis David Riel was executed on a scaffold at the barracks of the mounted police force, near this city, for high treason against the queen of Great Britain, at 8:20 this morning, mountain time.

He received the notice to proceed to the scaffold in the same composed manner shown the preceding night on receiving warning of his fate. His face was full of color and he appeared to have complete self-possession, responding to the service in a clear tone. He walked towards the executioner repeating his prayers, at the last moment the final words escaping him, "Merci Jesu." He died without a struggle. Not to exceed twenty persons were permitted within the confines of the barracks to witness the execution and it was certainly performed with decorum and dispatch. His body was taken in charge by the corner and the verdict usual to all state executions was rendered.

Riel suffered death for leading a revolt against the Canadian government. The people of Manitoba trusted him. In 1869 he led them to victory and held it until Gen. Sir Garnet Wolseley defeated him and his half breed followers and annexed Manitoba to Canada. This time Riel was condemned to death, but was afterward pardoned and banished.

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—There is considerable excitement here over the execution of Riel. Five hundred students are marshing the streets cheering for Riel. Flags are at half mast and there will be a demonstration to-night.

REFORM

By Telegraph to The Sentinel.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 16.—The National Rabbinical conference of the reformed Hebrew church, called to consider the propriety of abolishing many of the traditional features of the Hebrew religion, was opened at Concordia hall, Allegheny City, at 10 o'clock this morning by Rev. D. M. Wise, of Cincinnati. Thirty-five delegates from all parts of the country presented credentials. Rev. Dr. Mohler, of New York, spoke at length and said the movement contemplated doing away with some of the traditional features of Judaism, such as the belief of Orthodox Hebrews that they are all to go back to Palestine. It is intended also to eliminate all teachings that give Judaism an Oriental character.

He resisted and was killed and his wife's arm shot off. One of the parties was afterwards killed in California. M. Clay was arrested in Texas last summer and brought back. To-day he was convicted of murder and sentenced to hang in July.

IMPOSING

Will be the Oriental Spectacle at
H. N. Ward's Grand
Opening.

The ladies of Fort Wayne have been on the tip-toe of anxiety awaiting the grand holiday opening of H. N. Ward's Great China and Crockery emporium. The day is drawing near, the anxiety increases and THE SENTINEL is safe in predicting one of the most successful openings ever known in Fort Wayne in any branch of trade. A SENTINEL reporter this morning called at Mr. Ward's extensive establishment, and was granted the privilege of examining a part of the mammoth stock already on hand and neatly displayed. It is impossible to give anything like an idea of the wonderful crystal and china palace which Mr. Ward has erected in his store room. The treasures of the leading manufacturers of fine ware have literally been despoiled to contribute to his complete assortment. The attention of the public is called to the fact that the opening will occur next Thursday and Friday, and that no pains will be spared to make it the most attractive of the kind ever seen in Fort Wayne. Mr. Miller, special American agent for Charles Field, Havitt & Co., of France, will be present at the opening, solely for the purpose of displaying his specimens of the potter's art. Remember the date and call early. Reception will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. only.

A Poor Man's Request.

A man who has been employed in one of our large railroad shops, but has just lost his situation, stepped into the Empire Mill's Tea store, in the old Mayer house, Saturday evening, and purchased a can of tea and upon opening it found $50, in currency, imbedded in the tea. When the salesman asked the man to give his name, at the same time explaining that the company kept a record of the more valuable articles found in the cans of tea and coffee, the man did so, but requested the clerk to not have his name published, saying he was a poor man and out of work and was behind in his house rent and should his landlord hear of his good fortune he would demand the payment of his rent, while he really needed the money to purchase some few groceries and a little warm clothing for his family.

THE moonshiners, or Parnell, or both, have frightened the Austrian Empress from Irish soil, it is said, and she will henceforth hunt nearer home. In the forests at Schoenbrunn she has had a splendid hunting place built, that is described as a marvel of luxurious decoration. Its architecture is that of the modern renaissance period. Steps of white Italian marble lead to the Empress' room in the second story, upon which the best painters of the Empire have lavished their art. Mark planned the bed-room frescoing. The "turn-room," the Empress' gymnasium, is done in Pompeian style, and the vaulted riding school, about which the extensive stables cluster, in white, with plate-glass mirrors extending from floor to ceiling, and lounges upholstered in red velvet. Until the palace at Schoenbrunn is completed, the Empress will hunt in the imperial forests at Radmer. Despite her years—Elizabeth of Austria is nearly 50—she is as active a tourist as ever, and makes excursions on foot through the country in company with the young Archduchess Valeria, that are the marvel and despair of her court.

GENERAL GRANT'S death-masks, says Carl Gerhardt, who made it, is in a vault in New York, although he has been offered $10,000, he will not sell it, but intends keeping it to be handed down from generation to generation as Washington's death-mask was.

After warning Susan Mayhew to leave Tracy City without delay, the band roused three ex-convicts from their sleep and delivered to them the same message they had given to the woman, adding that death would be their portion should they disregard their warning. As soon as they could take their departure the ex-convicts bade the town farewell.

One bottle of Athlophoros relieved my wife who has rheumatism for over four years from all pain, gave her a good appetite and in fact made a strong woman out of a feeble one. I can recommend it. A. B. Tinsley, Fort Wayne, Ind.

NOT THE DORSEY OF "SOAP" FAME.

Nearly every one who travels on the boats of the Louisville and Jeffersonville Ferry Company is acquainted with Mr. J. C. Dorsey, the superintendent of the company, to whom much of its success is due. Mr. Dorsey has a pleasant family and a comfortable home on Wall St. near Chestnut, Jeffersonville, Ind., the happiness of which, however, has been somewhat disturbed by sickness. Mrs. Dorsey has been a severe sufferer from rheumatism, and neuralgia in the face has at times made Mr. Dorsey's life a burden. They are both in the best of health, however, and attribute this to Athlophoros, a remedy which has done for them all that is claimed for it in the matter of curing rheumatism and neuralgia. The story of how they were restored to health by this wonderful medicine was thus told by Mrs. Dorsey to one who called upon her to learn her experience and that of her husband with Athlophoros:

"I was afflicted with a very serious rheumatism last winter. It was principally in the arms, and I was suffering the most intense pain one Saturday evening when my husband came home. I said to him:

"I don't see how I can endure this pain much longer. It seems as if it were eating my bones."

"Well, never mind," said my husband, "I have a bottle of the King cure," at the same time bringing forth a bottle of Athlophoros. I took my first dose at once. That was about six o'clock. In less than two hours the pain was much reduced, and I felt comfortable in comparison with the suffering I had endured. I had such quick relief from the first dose that I got in a hurry and did not wait three hours as I should have according to the directions, but took the second dose at the end of two hours. The medicine was so powerful that it made me quite sick all the next day, but as soon as the bad feelings were gone I found that my rheumatism had gone with them, and I have never had any rheumatic pain since."

"How long ago was this, Mrs. Dorsey?"

"It was the middle of last winter."

"How did you first hear about Athlophoros?"

"It was by accident I might say, that I first heard of it. While I was afflicted by rheumatism my husband was suffering with neuralgia in his face, which had become very much swollen. On the morning of the Saturday which I have mentioned, Mr. Tyler, of Utica, was crossing on the ferryboat and noticed that Mr. Dorsey's face was swollen. Mr. Tyler asked him what the trouble was, my husband told him that it was neuralgia. Mr. Tyler then said:

"I know of a valuable medicine that will cure you. If it doesn't, why then I will pay for it."

"He then mentioned Athlophoros to my husband, who took down the name and on his way home stopped at a store and bought some. At the time he did not think of it as a remedy for my rheumatism, but seeing by the printed directions that it was for rheumatism as well as for neuralgia, he offered it to me when he came in and found me in so much pain."

"Did it cure Mr. Dorsey's neuralgia?"

"Yes, the pain and swelling soon left and he has not been troubled with them since."

"If you cannot get Athlophoros of your druggist, we will send you a recent one at regular price—one dollar per bottle. We prefer that you buy it from your druggist, but if he hasn't it, do not be persuaded to try something else, but order at once from us, as directed. ATHLOPHOROS CO., 112 Wall Street, New York."

OFFICIAL PAPER COUNTY AND CITY.

MONDAY, NOV. 16, 1885.

The last state fair enabled the executive board to lift $8,000 of its $40,000 indebtedness.

The Indiana attorney general holds that a man cannot be a postmaster and a peace justice at the same time, both being lucrative offices within the meaning of the law.

The war between Serbia and Bulgaria is likely to consume the Black Sea bread stuffs and create a demand for American supplies across the sea. The contest will tend to hasten the era of prosperity already dawning in the United States.

The Hartford City Telegram devotes much of its space to criticizing Fort Wayne and its people. It is to be regretted the Telegram has such a constructed field to advertise the great Summit City in, for the aim and aspiration of such a journal is to reach its wood subscribers.

In a recent paper, Sir John Lubbock says that ants of the same nest, however large it may be, have a means of recognizing each other not easily explained. The recognition is immediate and complete, even after an absence of a year from the nest. Concerning the longevity of ants, he said he had kept two queen ants for twelve years.

The expression of the eyes of persons killed by violence is considered an important matter in criminal jurisprudence, but its value has been greatly lessened by reason of its evanescent nature. A French scientist has found a means of restoring the life-like expression. It consists in applying a few drops of glycerine and water to the cornea.

The principals and employees of the London banks have a "prayer union," which meets once a month. A recent meeting was held at the Mansion House, the official residence of the Lord Mayor. Sir R. N. Fowler, the Lord Mayor, presided, and Rev. C. H. Spurgeon gave an address. Many of the leading bankers were present, and the large Egyptian Hall was crowded.

The district attorney of Indiana has been directed to bring suit on the official bond of Captain Cain, many years ago a well known Indian agent, to recover $51,184.50 alleged shortage as Indian agent in 1861. The accrued interest makes the sum total nearly $125,000. The bond is $10,000 and the sureties were General Meredith and Nehemiah Hayboth of whom, as well as Cain, are dead. It seems strange this suit was not instituted years ago.

A Georgia negro maintains that the efficacy of prayer depends entirely on the manner in which the petition is worded, and says: "If I ask the Lord to send me a turkey I won't get it, but if I ask Him to send me after a turkey I always get one before daybreak." Prof. Tyndall, who, as the result of scientific tests, has declared that there is no efficacy in prayer, has evidently been proceeding on insufficient data. Here is a case that will no doubt baffle his boasted science.

The last legislature provided for the construction of "fish ladders" to aid the passage of fish over dams and other obstructions, and in several quarters of the state there is a disposition to construct the same, if it was only known of what material and in what way they should be built. For some reason the state fish commissioner has failed to impart the needed information, and there are complaints that letters addressed to him are unanswered. A circular from B'r Reed is in order, containing the desired instructions.

The Indianapolis Times editorially attempts a political point by claiming that if under the senatorial apportionment bill passed by the last legislature a senator was elected in each of the vacant districts, the next senate would contain fifty-one members, or one more than warranted by the constitution; and it credited the double representation to the district embracing Lagrange and Gre...

ben counties. The Times is mixed. The districts were formerly Steuben and DeKalb, and Lagrange and Noble counties, and the last legislature changed them to Steuben and Lagrange and Noble and DeKalb, represented respectively by Messrs. Drake and Ensley, who are hold-over senators. There will, therefore, be no increase in senatorial members.

The female reformatory at Indianapolis was established twelve years ago, and at that time eighteen women were brought up from Jeffersonville, and of these four are now at the institution. In the twelve years 301 women have been received into the penal department and 614 into the reformatory department; there are now forty-six in the first named and 132 in the second. In the twelve years there has been but twenty-one deaths, ten of these being in the penal and eleven in the reformatory department. Of the forty-six now in the former, eleven are for life and one each for twelve, six and four years. The oldest prisoner is seventy-eight years of age, and has been in confinement for nearly thirty years.

The paper prepared nearly a year ago for the Century Magazine by General Grant on the relief of Rosecrans' starved army at Chattanooga, and the battle of Mission Ridge, and defeat of the rebels, and given in the current number, is the best of his writings for the press that have thus far been given to the public. He drops the cold formality of official reports, and gives many personal incidents and observations. It is greatly superior to his account of the siege of Vicksburg, and throws much light on the cloudy portions of the splendid victory at Chattanooga; and he, with grim facetiousness, gives a good deal of credit for the victory of the national arms to the meddlesomeness of Jeff Davis.

EVER since Ohio was admitted into the Union in 1802 the State and county elections have been held the second Tuesday of October. But Ohio is no longer an "October State." The official vote on the constitutional amendments at the election held Oct. 13 has been canvassed. They were all declared carried by half a million votes by a proclamation issued subsequently by the Governor. The effect will be to change the time of holding the Ohio State elections from October to November. The cause of this change was the corrupt use of money at the last two Presidential elections, which so disgraced the State, demoralized the ward-workers, and disgusted the people that they demanded that Ohio should be taken out of the category of "October States."

DR. FERRAN, the Spanish inoculator for cholera, has had the fullest measure of praise, followed by a deluge of abuse which the facts do not seem to justify. Reports as to the efficacy of inoculation have now been received from seven Spanish towns, containing an aggregate of 11,641 inhabitants. Of these 20,382 were inoculated, leaving 21,259 not so treated. Of the latter 7.45 per cent. were attacked with cholera, and of these 52.02 per cent. died. Of the 20,382 inoculated, 1.13 per cent. were attacked, and of these 38.32 per cent. died. Some of the medical writers consider this a remarkable showing in Ferran's favor. They say that he considered two inoculations, a "mild" and a "massive" one, necessary to assure success, and these could not always be given in the confusion attending the onset of cholera in the towns specified. Again, the pressure upon him was so severe that he could not always ascertain whether his inoculations had taken or not.

SIR HARRY VERNEY, who entered the Commons in the first reformed Parliament, will not accept re-election this year. He is eighty-three years old, and has a brother, Mr. Calvert, Q. C., seventy-nine. Sir Harry changed his name from Calvert to Verney on inheriting the estate of the Baroness of Fermanagh, sixty years ago or thereabout. Mr. Talbot, "the father of the House," also retires this fall. He is of the same age as Sir Harry Verney, and was first elected to the unreformed Parliament of 1830 as member for Glamorganshire, and without a break he has sat for Glamorganshire all the fifty-five years since. Mr. Villiers is another veteran, eighty-two years old, who has represented one constituency for now just half a century. Sir Robert Carden was born in 1801, but never entered Parliament until 1880. The O'Gorman Mahon is eighty-two years old, and was elected to the unreformed Parliament, but has not yet had enough of it, and hopes to secure a return this fall.

TITLES OF HONOR.

Their Origin and Primitive Meaning.

The origin and primitive meaning of a great majority of the titles in use at the present day are known to but few persons. As marks of distinction, however, they possess an intrinsic value which is not exceeded by any other reward that may be given for a man's service to his country. Thus, in most cases handed down from generation to generation, they acquire an historic interest and preserve in the memory of posterity a family distinction which would otherwise be quickly forgotten. Hence, in estimating the peculiar worth of a title, it must be regarded as conferred for an unlimited period—a fact which makes such a distinction all the more to be coveted as a prize of honor.

It is observable that in those countries where despotism exists in all its force, it has long been customary for the heads of communities to assume the most solemn and awe-inspiring titles. Some of these are most curious, and if "not always honorable in themselves, it is sufficient if the people respect them." In Madagascar, for instance, one of the King's titles is "Mighty Bull," and the term "Son of the Sun" was borne by the successive Egyptian Kings. In Dahomey the King is the "Lion of Lions," and in Zululand some of the titles of the King are "Thou who art forever," "Thou who art as high as the heavens," and "The Noble Elephant." Among further instances, we are told how by the wandering Arabs the title "God" is applied as the generic name of the most powerful living men known to them. In the same way, toward the close of the fifteenth century, when the King's supremacy in France became thoroughly established, the additional word "majesty," as Mr. Herbert Spencer points out in his "Coronations Institutions" (11, p. 688) grew into use as specially applicable to him. Hence, referring to the title "majesty," as established by Louis XI, it has been justly observed how inappropriate it was in his case.

In our country it appears that Henry VIII. was the first to assume the title majesty, and it was Francis I. who saluted him with it in their interview in the year 1520. An addition was afterward made to this title, and "his sacred majesty" was the term applied by subsequent sovereigns, which was again changed to "most excellent majesty." Formerly, too, the Kings of England were saluted by the title of "your highness" and "your excellent grace."

The first hereditary Duke created in England was the Black Prince, by his father, Edward III., in the year 1337; the Duke of Cornwall, then bestowed upon him, thenceforward becoming attached to the King's eldest son. The Dukedom of Lancaster was soon after conferred on his third son, John of Gaunt. In the early stages of the feudal period, however, the titles Baron, Marquis, Duke and Count were often conferred. Thus, as Chenevix Trenchard in his "Dictionnaire Historique" (1855), "the name Baron appears to have been the genuine term for every kind of great Lord, that of Duke for every kind of military chief, that of Count and Marquis for every ruler of a territory. These titles are used almost indiscriminately in the romance of chivalry." The old English title Earl implies an elder, as also that of Alderman, and, to quote Max Muller's words: "like many other titles of rank in the various Teutonic tongues, it is derived from an adjective signifying age." It was introduced into England by the Normans at the Conquest, from which period to the end of Henry III. Baron and Earl were the only names of dignity or titles known in England. The title of Marquis was first conferred in England by Richard II., who, in the year 1387, created Robert de Vere, Earl of Oxford, Marquis of Dublin. Seldom, in his "Titles of Honor," would he derive the term from the word "marchio," which had been in use to describe both Earls and Barons, but more particularly those who were Lord Marches, or Governors of frontier provinces. The title Viscount is of comparatively modern standing in this country, not having been introduced until the reign of Henry VI., who in the year 1429 created John, Lord Beaumont, Viscount Beaumont, by letters patent. The title of "sir" in days gone by was given to all who had taken a degree, or had entered into orders. Once more, the term "esquire" is coeval with the Conqueror, and had its origin in the chivalrous practices of the olden times.—London Standard.

From almost every section of the state comes reports of a general improvement of the health of our people, due no doubt to the influence of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

He Couldn't Leave the Game.
"The late Senator Nesmith made a national reputation," said an Oregon man, "while he was in the Senate. The world rang with laughter at his speech opposing summer in the purchase of Vinnie Reams' statue of Lincoln, even as it wept when years after he spoke his noted eulogy over Sumner's dead body. He might have been returned to the Senate had he been more of a politician and less of a well, less of Jim Nesmith. The caucus was all ready to elect him, the cards had been fixed, and a party of the ring leaders had come from the caucus to bring him to the meeting to have him make a rousing speech to the caucus. The delegation found him engaged in playing a little game of seven-up. They told him what they wanted, and he replied that he could not leave. They could make him Senator if they wanted to. If they didn't they could go to the devil. The delegation went off angry. They reported Nesmith's remarks, and by a little exaggeration roused up such a sentiment against him that Grover was elected and he was left at home. A year or so after this Nesmith was appointed Minister to Austria, but the Senate did not confirm him. He was a member of the Forty-second Congress, and after this service he went back to his home in Oregon.—Cleveland Leader.

Colonial Head-Dresses.
The dressing of women's hair kept pace with that of men. The "combed" or "lower" head-dress rose to a great height in the days of Queen Anne, and then declined to rise into a new deformity in the years just preceding the American Revolution. In 1771 a bright young girl in Boston wrote to her mother in the country a description of the construction upon her own head of one of the coiffures, composed of a roll of red cow's tail mixed with horse hair and a little human hair of a yellow color, all carded and twisted together and built up until by actual measurement the superstructure was an inch longer than the face below it. Of a hair-dresser at work on another lady's head, she says: "I saw him twist and tug and pick and cut off whole locks of gray hair at a slice for the space of a hour and a half, when I left him, he seemed not to be near done." One may judge of the vital necessity there was for all this art from the fact that a certain lady in Annapolis about the close of the colonial period was accustomed to pay $600 a year for the dressing of her hair. On great occasions the hair-dresser's time was so fully occupied that some ladies were obliged to have their mountaineer coiffures built up two days beforehand, and to sleep sitting in their chairs, or, according to a Philadelphia tradition, with their heads inclosed in a box.

The Bank of Venice.
The Bank of Venice, the first of its kind established in Europe, was founded in 1171. It owed its existence to the long wars between the Guelphs and the Ghibellines, and the government's need of money for conducting them. Having exhausted every other resource, the State was obliged to resort to forced loans from its wealthy citizens. Then was organized the Chamber of Loans, which by degrees assumed the form of a bank. It is said of this institution that "it was for many ages the admiration of Europe, the chief instrument of Venetian finance, and the chief facility of a commerce not surpassed by that of any European nation." Funds once deposited in the bank could not be withdrawn, but were transferable at the pleasure of their owners upon its books. So thoroughly did the bank credits become the means through and by which the financial operations of the people were conducted, that with scarcely an exception during its entire existence, these credits were at a premium over coin, the latter being often clipped and worn, as well as being of various countries and uncertain values. We may infer that the people were well satisfied with the workings of the bank from the statement of a well-known economical writer that "no book, speech, or pamphlet has been found in which any merchant or dweller in Venice ever put forth any condemnation of its theory or its practice." The Bank of Venice continued without interruption until the Venetian Republic was overthrown by the revolutionary army of France in 1797.

Two Cats.
A lover of cats relates the following: "One day for some reason the dinner was postponed, but the cat came in at the usual hour. She was evidently much disconcerted at seeing nothing going on, walked once or twice discontentedly round the table, then disappeared. Shortly afterward she returned with a mouse, which she laid on her master's plate, then going away, she came back a second time with a mouse, which she put on her own plate. She postponed further proceedings until her master's return, when she immediately began to purr and rub herself against his legs, as much as to say, 'See how nicely I have provided for you.' 'Between this town and the village of Holywood there is a country house which happened to take fire last week. The cat of the house, which had access to the servant-maid's apartments, ran up and pawed the young woman's face. Being very drowsy, the girl turned to sleep again. The cat, however, after some interval returned, and proceeded to scratch the girl's face to such purpose that she awoke and, smelling the fire, awakened the other members of the house, and the flames were extinguished.'"

Plants and Perfumery.
It is said that chemists can imitate most perfumes in nature. That they do not yet do this successfully is shown by the fact of the conversion of vast quantities of natural productions yearly, so indicating this, it is stated, that at the perfumery establishments at Nice, and Cannes, France, alone no less than 154,000 pounds of orange blossoms, 154,000 pounds of rose leaves, 25,200 pounds of violets, 13,200 pounds of acacia blossoms, 35,500 pounds of jasmine blossoms, 8,800 pounds of tuberose are annually used in the preparation of perfumes, besides a relatively large amount of Spanish lilacs, rosemary, mint, lime, and lemon blossoms, in addition to thyme, other plants, and flowers.

The Seine is being stocked with American salmon.

THE FIRST KEEN TWINGE.
As the season advances, the pains and aches by which rheumatism makes itself known, are experienced after every exposure. It is not claimed that Hood's Sarsaparilla is a specific for rheumatism—we doubt if there is, or can be, such a remedy. But the thousands benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla, warrant us in urging others who suffer from rheumatism to take it before the first keen twinge.

What is more annoying than a sick stomach? Nichols' Bark and Iron is the only sure remedy. Its tonic and invigorating properties are unequalled. 28-4w

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferers at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as 'bright as a button.' It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Read Carefully.

NOT OFTEN
Is Such a Rare Opportunity as This Presented—Three Grand Entertainments at the Temple for $1.00.

The R. R. Y. M. C. A. is already recognized in this community as one of the most deserving of our benefactions and an instrumentality that is accomplishing great good in our midst. But it must be remembered that the success of such an organization depends largely upon the material aid it receives from the general public. The maintaining of a reading room, library, bath-rooms and other luxuries and conveniences that belong to an institution of this character, is attended with considerable expense, and while some of our benevolent people have contributed handsomely, the association still finds it necessary to raise some money to meet current expenses. To accomplish this end, a series of three entertainments have been agreed upon, and the services of quite a number of our most gifted people have been secured for the same.

THE FIRST ENTERTAINMENT
will be a grand vocal and instrumental concert, by the Haydn quartet, assisted by Prof. Otto Schmidt, Miss Clara Kenower and Messrs. Charles McCulloch and John Mohr. That this concert will be of a very high order of merit, the names are alone sufficient guarantee. The Haydn quartet is an organization of which our people are justly proud, and their fine numbers are always welcomed on the program of any entertainment. The fame and popularity of this quartet is no longer confined to Fort Wayne and vicinity, but their services are sought far and wide. An engagement is offered them at the Southern Chautauqua of Florida, next winter, and another at Indianapolis during holiday week. Their singing is pronounced equal to that of the best professional organizations. Professor Schmidt is an artist whose talents are too well appreciated in this community to need laudation, and Miss Kenower and Messrs. McCulloch and Mohr will add very greatly to the pleasure of the evening.

THE SECOND ENTERTAINMENT
will consist of a lecture by Mr. T. P. Keator, formerly editor of the Gazette, on "Strange and Curious Things I Have Seen." This lecture is spoken of by those who have heard it, as interesting and quite eloquent.

THE THIRD ENTERTAINMENT
will introduce a number of our most popular home artists. Among the attractions of this number of the series, will be Reineke's superb orchestra, the new Mozart Quartet, Miss Emma Falk, Miss Lucia M. Vail, Mr. H. B. Saynor, Mr. Adolph Shulte, Mr. A. T. Lukens, Mr. H. B. Woolsey, Mr. F. E. Riblet, Mr. W. F. Heath and others.

These entertainments are to be given at the Masonic Temple during November and December, and tickets for the season will be sold at the very low price of $1.00 each, or three tickets for any one number of the series at the same price. It is proposed in these entertainments to give more than value received for the money invested, and those who patronize the course will not only have the pleasure of attending a most delightful series; but will also have the consciousness of having helped a worthy cause.—Daily News.

They are Not Sorry.
There is one thing nobody ever regrets—that is, the day they first adopted Parker's Tonic as their regular family medicine. Its range is so wide, and its good effects so sure, that nothing else, except good nursing, are needed in a great majority of cases. Buy it, try it, and afterwards it will not require any praise from us.

The green signals in the rear of passenger trains on the Wabash are giving way to red. A few months time has demonstrated that, as a light for the rear of trains at night, green is unsatisfactory, and engineers of locomotives following at liable to misjudge distances, so deceptive is it. High red "bull's-eyes," which can be distinctly seen at a distance of three or four miles, are now placed on the back platform of all express trains. This running things into green had a tendency, too, to stimulate the Celt to a celebration of St. Patrick's day, or something like it.

TWO WRECK.

The Pittsburg Road Meets Disaster East and West.

Freight train 77 was approaching the city this morning and just this side of Adams station the double-header broke in two. The engines came to the city to get water and returning they misjudged their distance and backed into the train smashing three cars and breaking the tender of one of the engines.

Freight train No. 73 was west bound, and near Valparaiso the long line of cars broke in three places. They came together with great violence and a dozen box cars were smashed and their freight scattered about. Both wrecks figure up great damage to the company, but happily no loss of life or injury to any person are to be recorded in the disasters.

The Syrian Convert.

Yesterday evening the new Sabbath school room of the First Presbyterian church was crowded and packed, almost like sardines in a box, with men, women and children to hear the story of the life of the Syrian convert, Mrs. Layyah Baraket. She is not only an interesting and forcible speaker, but makes everything so plain and simple that even the youngest in the audience could readily understand and appreciate her remarks. She tells her life, her hardships and her work for Christ in lands where it requires strength and firmness to show your hand as a Christian. She tells it in an easy and straight-forward manner and with such earnestness and force that the entire audience was held spell-bound for almost two hours.

Mrs. ROGERS, the cattle queen of Texas, inherited from her first husband a herd of 40,000 cattle. ## DEATH ON THE RAIL.

Wm. Curry, Night Yard Master at the East Pittsburg Yards, Mangled by the Wheels.

Wm. Curry, who has long served the Pittsburg railroad company, was killed at 4 o'clock Sunday morning in the east switch yards, where he was night yard master. Mr. Curry was directing Engineer W. L. Scott to make up a train and the yard locomotive was shifting cars back and forth. In backing on the main track the engine touched three freight cars on a side track and smashed their doors, driving them back with a crash. It is supposed these cars struck Mr. Curry, for beside the track his almost lifeless form was found immediately afterward. Both of his hands were cut off just above the wrist. His back was broken and he was otherwise bruised. He lived to reach his home, at 239 Lafayette street. Mr. J. C. Peltier prepared the dead man for burial and Dr. J. M. Dinnen, the coroner, investigated the death of Curry, who is thirty-three years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

This eminent comedian will appear at the Masonic Temple, next Saturday, Nov. 21, as "Felix McKusick," and we wish again to impress upon the minds of our amusement-loving people that they ought not to miss this opportunity. Mr. Russell is supported by an unusually well balanced and strong company. The Temple will, without a doubt, be filled with the elite of our city.

The Salinger Assessment.

Saturday afternoon John F. McHugh and Morris Newberger, of Indianapolis, in behalf of New York and Cincinnati creditors, and the creditors in general of A. Salinger, submitted to Judge Vinton, at Lafayette a petition asking permission to overhaul the books of the store; also that the preferred creditors be brought into court and compelled to show the validity of their claims. The court is engaged in hearing the case.

It is now demonstrated that the indebtedness of A. Salinger will amount to something more than $60,000, while the assets will not foot up to exceed $18,000, with $29,000 of preferred creditors. The prospects are that even the preferred creditors will not realize more than 50 per cent. while those not secured at all will get left.

SCOTTISH RITE MASONS.

The Meeting at Indianapolis This Week—Mr. C. A. Munson Highly Honored.

The Ancient Accepted Scottish Rite Masons of Indiana will hold their fall convocation at Indianapolis, commencing to-morrow at 2 p. m. and continuing until Thursday night. Palmer, 33°, sovereign grand commander of the Rite for the northern district of the United States. The Indiana consistory has grown very rapidly within the past few years, and now numbers over 700 members. A distinguished reception committee is named and among them is Mr. Charles A. Munson to represent Fort Wayne.

On Wednesday, at 10 o'clock a. m., a meeting of the council of deliberation for the district of Indiana will be held in the library room of the A. and A. Rite Temple, for the purpose of considering matters connected with the order. This body is composed of the active, emeritus, past active and honorary members of the supreme council (33 degrees) resident in each state, the past commanders-in-chief of consistories, the first three officers of consistories and chapters of Rose Croix and the first four officers of councils of Princes of Jerusalem and lodges of perfection in each state. # Catarrh Can be Cured

That exceedingly disagreeable and very prevalent disease, catarrh, is caused by serotinous taint in the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla, by its powerful purifying and vitalizing action upon the blood, speedily removes the cause, and thus effects a radical and permanent cure of catarrh. Those who suffer from its varied symptoms—uncomfortable flow from the nose, offensive breath, ringing and bursting noises in the ears, swelling of the soft parts of the throat, nervous prostration, etc.—should take Hood's Sarsaparilla and be cured.

The Best Medicine

"I have suffered with catarrh in my head for years, and paid out hundreds of dollars for medicines, but have heretofore received only temporary relief. I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and now my catarrh is nearly cured, the weakness of my body is all gone, my appetite is good—in fact, I feel like another person. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the best medicine I have ever taken." MRS. A. CUNNINGHAM, Providence, R. I.

Serious consequences are liable to ensue if catarrh is not attended to in season. The disease frequently destroys the sense of smell and often develops into bronchitis or pulmonary consumption. Undoubtedly many cases of consumption originate in catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh and has even effected remarkable cures of consumption itself, in its early stages. A book containing statements of many cures by Hood's Sarsaparilla, will be sent free to all who send address to C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Catarrh and Impure Blood

"Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything else I ever used." A. BALL, Syracuse, N. Y. "I suffered three years with catarrh, and my general health was poor in consequence. When I took Hood's Sarsaparilla I found I had the right remedy. The catarrh is yielding, as Hood's Sarsaparilla is cleansing my blood, and the general tone of my system is improving." FRANK WASHBURN, Rochester, N. Y.

SERVIA

Marching Steadily on the Bulgarian Capital.

The Servians Win the
First Decisive
Victory.

A Pierce and Bloody Struggle Now Raging on the Main Public
Highway.

A GREAT BATTLE.

The Servians Win the First Decisive Victory.

By Cable to The Sentinel.

Belgrade, Nov. 16.—After desperate fighting yesterday the Servian troops occupied positions at Rapticha. The losses on both sides were heavy. This victory enabled the Servians to turn a very difficult and rocky gorge of the Dragoman pass and the Bulgarians after a gallant resistance retreated to Slivnitza, where an important engagement is expected to take place to-day, which will decide the fate of Sofia. The direct road to Sofia passes through Tzaribrad and Dragoman, but another runs by way of Tein and turns both defiles off, Tzaribrad and Dragoman, reaching Sofia via Brestnik. It was probably on the latter road the fight of yesterday took place.

PARTICULARS OF THE FIGHT.

Belgrade, Nov. 16.—Col. D. Juk-nitch, commanding the Timak division, drove the Bulgarians from the entrenchments at Kiola and captured 150 prisoners. The total Servian loss is two officers and fifty men killed and 200 wounded. An official report from Colonel Benocky says: After a brilliant charge the Servians carried four Bulgarian redoubts beyond Tzaribrad. Col. D. Juk-nitch with the Timak division has taken Kiola. The Servian troops continue advancing everywhere and have captured 400 prisoners. The Bulgarians have lost 200 wounded and fifty killed. A great battle is now being fought in the direction of Dragoman. The latter probably refers to the fight at Rapticha reported in the previous press dispatch.

ALEXANDER'S APPEAL.

Constantinople, Nov. 16.—The cabinet council is now discussing Prince Alexander's appeal for assistance.

Paris, Nov. 16.—An Anglo-French agreement respecting the New Foundland fisheries has been signed in this city. It is regarded as a satisfactory compromise on the questions involved.

London, Nov. 16.—The daily newspapers in their editorials on the Bulgaria-Servian war are unanimous in condemning Servia and express great anxiety as to the future of the Balkans.

The extraordinary liberal campaign which is being made in Scotland, by Mr. Gladstone, is comparatively ignored, for the moment. Despite the adverse criticisms made by the editors of the great London dailies on Mr. Gladstone's treatment of the disestablishment issue, it cannot be denied the ex-premier has succeeded in largely satisfying the churchmen in England that the church is not threatened with immediate attack. Now that he has pretty well convinced Scotch voters that, for them, the issue is a separate one and within their own provinces, as time passes, this becomes daily more clear, and the result is becoming apparently advantageous to the Liberal cause. The ex-premier's great speech has stopped the stampede from the Liberal party, which was turning to the Tory side thousands of men who had begun to deem it their duty to go that way to save the church and it will undoubtedly bring back to the Liberal ranks a large proportion of the deserters whose fears on this score had already driven them away. By his admission to the Scotch that so far as they were concerned, he was willing to bring the question of disestablishment to an issue, whenever they desired it, it is thought Mr. Gladstone has strengthened his following in Scotland. The Scotch have for years demanded an extension to them of the privileges accorded Ireland, in religious and land affairs, and perhaps a majority of those English Liberals who still insist on the maintenance of a union of the state and church in England, have long been willing that Scotland should have perfect freedom in the matter. Some persons contend that Mr. Gladstone has lost some degree of influence with his party already. The United Ireland. Mr. Parnell's own organ, insists that the home rule question is recognized by all the first statesmen of Great Britain as the leading issue of the hour in British politics, and says that whichever party makes the settlement, it will probably be a mere wrangle over details. This utterance must be considered important. It was undoubtedly inspired by the great Irish leader and is probably meant to convey to the league the information that the Irish party managers no longer consider themselves obliged to tie themselves to the Conservative party for the accomplishment of their ends, but have succeeded in reaching a position in which the chances for a good deal else are sufficient to warrant some independence. It is quite natural for the Parnellites to prefer a bargain with Gladstone to one with Salisbury. The liberal leader has some claims on Irish gratitude and has a following largely disposed towards making concessions. Lord Salisbury has neither. The defection of the Irish vote in Parliament, throw the Liberals from power. They are trying to get back. They have been attempting this without Irish help and have obtained but indifferent prospects. With the Irish help, the Liberals would possess an absolute certainty of restoration. Mr. Parnell would lose nothing, but gain everything. He could afford to trust to Liberal promises with more confidence than to any the Tories might make. The Tory leaders could not guarantee that their party would permit them to fulfill their pledges, whereas Mr. Gladstone could guarantee that his party would keep his promise; besides if Mr. Gladstone himself should prove recalcitrant, Mr. Parnell would be in better shape to again overthrow his ally; for it can at present hardly be doubted that Parnell will have a far larger and more efficient balance of power than he now has.

Dispatches from Brussels aver that Belgium has sent a compromise proposition to the Paris monetary conference, offering to accept the liquidation clause; provided it be offered to her in the event, only, of her renouncing the union and further proposing to withdraw a portion of her silver from circulation, if France agrees to adopt the single gold standard.

The excitement in Germany over Bismarck's continued enforcement of his edict of exile of the Russian Poles, from Prussia, continues unabated. Great relief committees have been sent to assist the unfortunate exiles at Lemberg, Posen and Crocow. The relief committee at the latter city reports that two thousand Poles in one Russian settlement were recently ordered to settle up their affairs and quit Prussia without delay. A majority of these were Roman Catholics and have lived in Prussia so long that they have forgotten their native language. They have all been compelled to sell their property in haste and speculators in the favor of the local officials, have taken such advantage of the situation that very little of the property thus forced up on the market has brought more than one-fourth of its value. To make matters worse, Russia has issued an order prohibiting the entry of these exiles into the Czar's domain, unless they can prove they were there in. In consequence of this there are at present encamped at one place on the frontier, fifteen hundred exiled Poles, penniless, a homeless, and deprived of the right to move forward, and with imprisonment with hard labor, starting them in the face of the day to return. The Czar's relief committee denounces the expulsion as inhuman and unlawful and quotes from the great German authorities Luther and Bismarck, to show that the edict of expulsion was issued by the German Chancellor, in violation of the German constitution of 1871 which lodged with the Bundesrath alone and not with the Crown, the right to banish from the Empire. The innumerable stories of cruelty inflicted upon tens of thousands of unoffending Poles, by the edicts are producing in Germany a wide spread feeling of bitterness against Bismarck.

It is rumored in London that the queen intends to insist upon the appointment of Prince Henry, of Battenberg, Princess Beatrice's young German husband, to the vacant berth of commander of the Royal yacht "Albatross." The rumor is very much grabbing among naval officers, who regard the queen's threatened action as a blow at the merit in the navy.

The marriage of the Infanta Eulalia, of Spain, to the son of the Duc de Montpensier, is fixed for the 11th of February next.

Mr. Alfred Milner, Liberal parliamentary candidate for Harrow Middlesex, and a close personal friend of Mr. Morley and Mr. Goschen, is at present acting in Mr. Stead's place as editor of the Pall Mall Gazette, to whose columns he has been a contributor for several years. It is regarded as probable that Mr. Milner will be appointed permanently to the position, and it is said that Mr. Stead, when he is free, will start a new newspaper, which will be conducted as an organ of the social purity movement, started in consequence of the Pall Mall Gazette's revelations and now carried on with great vigor by a number of organizations throughout England, under the patronage of the Methodist church.

London, November 14.—The declaration of war by King Milan against Bulgaria and actual hostilities, engage the undivided attention of the people to-night and yet it is next to impossible to get any news from Bulgaria, owing to the expulsion of most of the correspondents and the difficulty the others have in getting their dispatches forwarded to the telegraph offices.

Sofia, November 14.—Prince Alexander in an order of the day to the officers and men of his army says: "King Milan has declared war against us and has ordered the Servian army to invade Bulgaria. Our Servian brethren instead of assisting us wish to overrun our country. Show your courage now and defend your mothers, wives, sisters and homes. Pursue and annihilate the cowardly treacherous enemy. Let 'forward' be your battle cry brethren, and may God aid us and grant us victory."

VLASSINA, November 14.—A skirmish has taken place near here between Bulgarian and Servian troops. Eleven men were killed and twenty wounded. The Bulgarians have retired from Tein, Isarabrod, Klesurina and Bregora.

Sofia, November 14.—Servians have commenced operations by a vigorous attack on the Bulgarian position at Bowskedol. The cannonading still continues. Later: The Servians descending from the heights of Dastebel and Kladeutz, occupied the Bulgarian villages of Miloslawitz, Fetine, Garl and Frontz, in the Tein district. They met with no opposition. No serious action has yet occurred. The Bulgarian troops have left for the frontier, while others are advancing by forced marches, from Eastern Roumelia.

London, November 14.—Dispatches from Belgrade say King Milan has also issued a proclamation which in substance is as follows: "Servia cannot allow Bulgaria, which has already proved a hard neighbor, to disturb the balance of power in the Balkans, to her exclusive advantage." He then alludes to what he calls the unjustifiable Bulgarian custom duties on the frontier; to the unlawful seizure of Bregora and the encouragement by Bulgaria, of Servian rebels, condemned for high treason. In conclusion the King says: "I cannot suffer these intentional provocations and I therefore adopt the policy of open hostility which has been forced upon me by Bulgaria. Servia's just cause now rests on the arbitrament of arms, the bravery of her army, the protection of the Almighty. I rely upon my people's patriotism."

Belgrade, November 14.—In is officially announced that a force of Bulgarians on Thursday attacked a body of Servians near Vlasina. The Servians returned the fire. Ten Bulgarians killed or wounded, were left on Servian territory. Several of the Servians were wounded in consequence of attack of the Bulgarians. The cabinet on Friday, decided to declare war. The Servian troops have captured Tein, and occupied the forts.

The British War at Burmah.

By Cable to The Sentinel.

Rangoon, Nov. 16.—In the fight with a war vessel belonging to King Thibaw, which occurred yesterday, the fire from the British caused 200 of the crew of the Burmese vessel to jump overboard. The British then boarded the vessel and proceeded up the river with her. It is reported that 3,000 troops are stockaded at Fort Kuligun which occupies a high dominating point over the river at Muthla.

REBELLIOUS REIL.

Leader of the Northwest Insur-
gents, Executed.

By Cable to The Sentinel.

Regina, N. W. T., Nov. 16.—Riel has been confined in the guard room of the Canadian mounted police barracks, whose headquarters post is located on the open prairie, three miles west of this city, ever since the conclusion of his trial here in July. The strict privacy of the prisoner was broken down for the first time yesterday when a representative of the Associated Press was permitted to visit him in the company of the high sheriff and commandant of the mounted police. This was on the occasion of a formal announcement that his death warrant had arrived. There was a trace of French pathos in his accent. His beard was a dark brown, neatly trimmed, and his hair was brushed back from his high forehead with a tendency to curl, in contrast to the straight hair of his Indian progenitors. His nose was slightly roman and his skin was dark but not swarthy. Looking at him and witnessing his manner it was easy to discern the influence he had with his people. "I have only this," striking his breast, "to leave and this I tendered to my country fifteen years ago and am willing to give it now." His concluding hours were passed in the sole company of his spiritual advisor, who performed masses for him during the early portion of the night. Riel then laid down and appeared to sleep soundly, awakening at an early hour and again resuming his devotions.

THE EXECUTION.

Louis David Riel was executed on a scaffold at the barracks of the mounted police force, near this city, for high treason against the queen of Great Britain, at 8.20 this morning, mountain time.

He received the notice to proceed to the scaffold in the same composed manner shown the preceding night on receiving warning of his fate. His face was full of color and he appeared to have complete self-possession, responding to the service in a clear tone. He walked towards the executioner repeating his prayers, at the last moment the final words escaping him, "Merci Jesus." He died without a struggle. Not to exceed twenty persons were permitted within the confines of the barracks to witness the execution and it was certainly performed with decorum and dispatch. His body was taken in charge by the coroner and the verdict usual to all state executions was rendered.

Riel suffered death for leading a revolt against the Canadian government. The people of Manitoba trusted him. In 1869 he led them to victory and held it until Gen. Sir Garnet Wolseley defeated him and his half-brother followed and annexed Manitoba to Canada. This time Riel was condemned to death, but was afterwards pardoned and banished.

Montreal, Nov. 16.—There is considerable excitement here over the execution of Riel. Five hundred students are marching the streets cheering for Riel. Flags are at half mast and there will be a demonstration to-night.

REFORM

By Telegraph to The Sentinel.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 16.—The National Rabbinical conference of the reformed Hebrew church, called to consider the propriety of abolishing many of the traditional features of the Hebrew religion, was opened at Concordia hall, Allegheny City, at 10 o'clock this morning by Rev. D. M. Wise, of Cincinnati. Thirty-five delegates from all parts of the country presented credentials. Rev. Dr. Mohler, of New York, spoke at length and read the movement contemplative along away with some of the traditional features of Judaism, such as the belief of Orthodox Hebrews that they are all to go back to Palestine. It is intended also to eliminate all teach- ings that give Judaism an Oriental char- acter.

He resisted and was killed and his wife's arm shot off. One of the parties was afterwards killed in California. M. Clay was arrested in Texas last summer and brought back. To-day he was convicted of murder and sentenced to hang in July.

IMPOSING

Will be the Oriental Spectacle at
Opening.

The ladies of Fort Wayne have been on the tip-toe of anxiety awaiting the grand holiday opening of H. N. Ward's Great China and Crockery emporium. The day is drawing near, the anxiety increases and THE SENTINEL is safe in predicting one of the most successful openings ever known in Fort Wayne in any branch of trade. A SENTINEL reporter this morning called at Mr. Ward's extensive establishment, and was granted the privilege of examining a part of the mammoth stock already on hand and neatly displayed. It is impossible to give anything like an idea of the wonderful crystal and china palace which Mr. Ward has erected in his store room. The treasures of the leading manufacturers of fine ware have literally been despoiled to contribute to his complete assortment. The attention of the public is called to the fact that the opening will occur next Thursday and Friday, and that no pains will be spared to make it the most attractive of the kind ever seen in Fort Wayne. Mr. Miller, special American agent for Charles Field, Havill & Co., of France, will be present at the opening, solely for the purpose of displaying his specimens of the potter's art. Remember the date and call early. Reception will be held from 7 to 10 p. m. only.

A Poor Man's Request.

A man who has been employed in one of our large railroad shops, but has just lost his situation, stepped into the Empire Mill's Tea store, in the old Mayer house, Saturday evening, and purchased a can of tea and upon opening it found $50, in currency, imbedded in the tea. When the salesman asked the man to give him name, at the same time explaining that the company kept a record of the more valuable articles found in the cans of tea and coffee, the man did not request the clerk to not have his name published, saying he was a poor man and out of work and was behind in his house rent and should his landlord hear of his good fortune he would demand the payment of his rent, while he really needed the money to purchase some few groceries and a little warm clothing for his family.

The moonshiners, or Parnell, or both, have frightened the Austrian Empress from Irish soil, it is said, and she will henceforth hunt nearer home. In the forests at Schoenbrunn she has had a splendid hunting place built, that is described as a marvel of luxurious decoration. Its architecture is that of the modern renaissance period. Steps of white Italian marble lead to the Empress' room in the second story, upon which the best painters of the Empire have lavished their art. Mark planned the bed-room frescoing. The "turn-room," the Empress' gymnasium, is done in Pompeian style, and the vaulted riding school, about which the extensive stables cluster, in white, with plate-glass mirrors extending from floor to ceiling, and long open upholstered in red velvet. Until the palace at Schoenbrunn is completed, the Empress will hunt in the imperial forests at Badmer. Despite her years, Elizabeth of Austria is nearly 50, she is as active a tourist as ever, and makes excursions on foot through the country in company with the young Arch-duchess Valeria, that are the marvel and despair of her court.

Nashville, Tenn., Nov. 16.—At mid-night Saturday a band of regulars took Noah Carey and Susan Mayhew, both colored, from their cabins and gave them a terrible beating. The mob numbered fifteen men. After warning Susan Mayhew to leave Tracy City without delay, the band roused three ex-convicts from their sleep and delivered to them the same message they had given to the woman, adding that death would be their portion should they disregard their warning. As soon as they could take their departure the ex-convicts bade the town farewell.
